

S. JAMIES'

Bicentenary 2019-2024

Is the Church still open?

Unfortunately, no. It deeply saddens us that we must close our doors to the public when St James' has been a place of refuge, solace, and prayer for the people of Sydney for 200 years.

Whom can I contact for prayer and pastoral support?

Please contact the clergy via the Parish Office at sjks.org.au, by phone to 8227 1300 or email office@sjks.org.au

Can I still get a copy of weekly parish news and the prayer list?

Yes, the weekly pew sheet is being published and posted online. A limited number of copies will also be printed. If you'd like us to post one to you, please contact the Office. If you are able to collect some copies to distribute to people who live near you please let us know. A small donation for postage would be appreciated.

Is the Parish Office still open?

Yes, the Parish Office is open during business hours on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, although we are transitioning for our staff to work from home. If you need to visit the Parish Office, it would be appreciated if you could notify us in advance and, when you're on the premises, that you practise social distancing.

How do I continue my giving if I can't come to church?

We encourage you to prayerfully consider continuing to make your financial offering as you are able to. This can be done online at sjks.org.au/donate through secure payment, or via direct bank deposit or direct debit. Please contact the Parish Office if you require further assistance.

Are you live-streaming services?

We will live stream Wednesday Choral Evensong at 6:15pm and Sunday morning Choral Eucharist at 10:00am via our website sjks.org.au. Services will remain online to watch again. Morning Prayer is being offered every day at 8:30am via Zoom. Please see our website for the link.

What about concerts?

At this stage our upcoming concerts from March until May have been cancelled or postponed. This includes lunchtime concerts as well as our Subscription concert series. We hope to reschedule many of these to later in the year.

And St James' Institute Events?

Where possible, we'll offer webinars via Zoom online at our website for some activities and events and reschedule our planned activities for later in the year. Details will be published via the Institute mailing list. Please contact the St James' Institute Director for further information. You can email institute@sjks.org.au for other enquiries or to join the mailing list if you don't already receive regular SJI updates.
